

The New Era Of Weight Loss

From an 8-week double blind clinical study, participants found these amazing results.

The participants had better appetite control and a higher rate of fat burning.

One of the keys to better appetite control is how it controls Leptin levels within your body. Better appetite control equals less hunger and less calories consumed.

Leptin resistance is a major issue for anyone that is overweight and this means your body is producing Leptin, but your brain doesn't recognize it. In return your brain keeps telling you to eat.

The ingredients in LeptiSense help to lower a special protein molecule called C-reactive protein. This increases the ability of Leptin to bind to areas of your brain that control your appetite and food reward system. In essence this formula reduces Leptin Resistance.

LeptiCore®, an ingredient within the LeptiSense formula, can increase Serotonin levels which have been linked to decreased food intake, reduced weight gain and increased calories burned.

To summarize: Just from consuming LeptiCore® in the clinically studied dose that we use in LeptiSense, the participants saw significant improvements in bodyweight, lower body fat, and a reduction in waist and hip measurements.

Another powerhouse ingredient we included in the LeptiSense formula is called Sensoril®. Sensoril® supports healthy blood sugar levels so that your insulin levels don't spike and trigger fat storage.

It also contributes to improve sexual function in men and women, improves muscular strength and increases your resistance to fatigue.

The most important benefits of clinically studied Sensoril®, is that when used in the clinically suggested dosage which is what we use in the LeptiSense formula, your internal inflammation decreases, your cortisol levels stay in control, and your C-reactive protein levels are lower.

These 3 things right here trigger fat burning and limit your body to want to store fat. Cortisol is a fat storage hormone. Elevate that and you shut off fat burning. Keep it in check and you keep your body in fat burning mode.

Start Your New ERA Of Weight Loss Today by picking up your very own supply of LeptiSense

